Does Your Bathroom Feel Like a Crowded Elevator? Now, Learn How to Make it FEEL Bigger Without, er, Making it Bigger.

Do you have a cramped, hard-to-move-around-in bathroom?

If so, chances are you've learned to live with feeling overly crowded, even when it's a crowd of one.

What's the practical and affordable answer? Of course: finding one or more creative ways to make your bathroom simply FEEL bigger. We have a few workable ideas to share you, but there are plenty more where these came from:

Keep everything the same or approximate tone/color/value

The mixture of dark walls and lighter colored tiles (just as one example) serves to make a space feel smaller. If you still want some contrast, use accessory items like towels to provide it. Accessories like these will stand out against your newly blended backdrop of white on white, etc.

Let Light In

Windows are great ways to make a room look bigger, so don't cover them up with dark, opaque shades. Invest in frosted windows or sheer curtains instead.

Green & Healthy Living Tips

Recycle Bathroom Water.

Keep a bucket by the shower or tub and fill it with the cold water that comes out before the hot water kicks in. Then take the bucket around your house to water your plants.

Mirrors

Mirrors reflect light on the surfaces in your bathroom and can create the illusion of more space. Instead of hanging a tiny mirror above the sink, use multiple mirrors or cover one whole wall with one to add depth to a narrow bathroom.

Floating Furniture

If you absolutely rely on drawers to hide your clutter, consider a floating vanity without legs. Floating vanities attach to the wall and keep your floors clear, which can make the room look and feel more spacious.

Pedestal Sinks

These take up very little room and look fantastic. Then simply put an open glass-door cabinet beside it for storage. You'll get more storage than you would in a low-profile vanity and in white-on-white, it will blend right in.

If your planned bathroom changes involve plumbing, Your 1 Plumber is ready to step in to lend a helping hand – from demolition work to tub and shower replacements, new sinks and faucets, and so much more. Plus, you can now save $35 on any bathroom plumbing replacement with the coupon on page 3.

Happy New Year from all of us at Your 1 Plumber.
