Thank you!

Kitchen and bathroom remodels can be pretty pricey. In fact, the average bathroom remodel costs between $8,000 and $12,000, while complete kitchen remodels cost considerably more.

But now you can spruce up the look of either room for far less, simply by replacing your faucets. You'll so improve the appearance of your kitchen or bath that you'll have guest asking questions like “What did you do to your kitchen?”

New faucets can provide added levels of convenience, too.

Here are just a few examples of modern kitchen faucets:

- Pre-rinse – Pre-rinse faucets provide the flexibility to clean up, prepare meals, fill taller pots, and more, and the stylish industrial design adds an efficient feature to the busiest kitchens.
- Pull-out spray – This is a variation on the more common side-spray variety where the spray nozzle is built into the faucet in one compact and flexible unit.
- Gooseneck – If you have to tilt your spaghetti pop or flower vases sideways to fill them with water, then a gooseneck faucet gives you that added bit of functionality.

Bathroom faucet options:

- Widespread – Unlike most faucets that come in a single unit, widespread faucets have three separate components: hot water handle, faucet, and cold water handle.
- Vessel – A vessel kitchen and bath faucets is the bathroom version of a kitchen gooseneck faucet, minus the gooseneck. The faucet is raised high enough from the sink that you can use it to fill a basin, hot water bottle, and other containers or "vessels."
- Single hole – If you currently have a center set faucet with separate hot and cold water handles, a single hole model represents a nice alternative with one lever to give you the right balance and degrees of hot and cold water.

On top of multiple types of faucets, there are also umpteen styles and finishes to choose from. But then again, isn't that part of the fun of shopping for something new?

Special End-of-Summer Savings from Your 1 Plumber

Today, we invite you to shop to your heart's content for one or more faucets to spruce up the appearance of your kitchen or bathroom while enhancing your everyday convenience. Once you do, contact Your 1 Plumber and pay just $225 to have each faucet installed... that's a 30% savings off our regular price. Be sure to present the coupon on page 3 of this newsletter when service is provided.*
